Presumably Ballou will be as keen to act before the Supreme Court as he was in the Fitz case.

Perhaps Fitzsimmons is objecting to the divorce because he dislikes the record of also being knocked out by a woman.

Some may be able to explain the good in a blanket warrant. The public knows it has never done anything but make trouble.

Whether the Road Supervisor is Sam Johnson or John Jones, any official handling such a large amount of money and property should be under bond.

One of two things is happening in Russia. Either the reforms granted by the Czar are impressing the people favorably or, they are letting go temporarily to get another hold.

Three railroads are putting on specials to convey tourists to Cuba. Why shouldn't three railroads do the same for Hawaii, if the steamer accommodations could be guaranteed?

Hawaii, in consequence of past experience, would be able to sympathize with Cuba in the attack made on its reciprocity treaty. Circumstances are such, however, that Hawaii is not now so disposed.

Elective county officials with smaller salaries are beginning to suggest that Sam Johnson is so valuable he should be provided with a gold case studded with diamonds. But they are not road supervisors.

Officers of the Mariposa take the story to San Francisco that the United States Government has offered France $20,000,000 francs for Tahiti. It would be expensive at half the price, for it would add another to the list of prospective sugar-land owners seeking benevolent assimilation.

Some day Honolulu citizens will become accustomed to working for public interests with the same enthusiasm that private projects are tackled. If a delegation were named from the Planters' Association to promote the Immigration of Chinese—presuming it were approved by the President—the members would hardly wait a week before getting together to discuss how to go at it.

It is of more than ordinary significance that Justice McKenna of the United States Supreme Court obviously expected the local Supreme Court to allow a litigant to perfect its appeal. Significant because the local Supreme Court did not act in the manner the Justice anticipated. This is not the first time that a Justice of the United States Supreme Court has encountered the unexpected from a main now on the Supreme Bench, though it was not official.

This is the rough language Governor Wright of the Philippines is using in his public talks before the Ways and Means Committee: "I don't object to intelligent selfishness, but I do object to pigheaded selfishness, and that is what opposition to a reduction in the Philippine tariff seems to me." Should anyone from Hawaii use words thus direct in behalf of this Territory, immediately a cry would go up, "What will they say in Washington." It was an American admiral who said "D—h" allows his enthusiasm to lead him into a slight misrepresentation of his opponents, but "Washington" does not object to plain speaking or vigorous presentation.

Commissioner Garfield has explained his report on the Beef Trust that caused such widespread amusement over what was not found. He says "At the time of the publication of the report the Department of Justice had under advisement proceedings against certain packing companies and their officers for violation of the Federal antitrust laws. It was obvious, therefore, that the publication of the information possessed by the bureau on that subject was inexpedient at that time, and accordingly, by the direction of the President, all the information possessed by the bureau on the subject of such combination was withheld from publication." Better judgment would at least have been displayed by withholding the whole from publication if a part was a misrepresentation.

THAT WASHINGTON DELEGATION

Governor Carter has said that he hopes the business delegation from Hawaii will not branch out on too many tangents, or words to that effect.

The people of Honolulu have been wondering whether the delegation, now that it has been named, has gone to sleep.

The people may be all wrong. It may be that the gentlemen who compose this delegation are saving up their energy, training, so to speak, till they buck the center at the end of Pennsylvania avenue, when they will blossom forth as the liveliest of liveliest, and carrying everything before them for Hawaii. If this be the case, The Bulletin apologizes in behalf of the people for the impression that the nervous exhaustion consequent to asking Hatch and acting accordingly has required a season of rest and recuperation.

Delegate Kuhio has introduced the bill for which Hawaii is to struggle. Copies of it were received in today's mail. The only definite action of the delegation is to determine by common consent the date of their departure. This is better than nothing; but there is a vast amount of preliminary work to be done, unless everything is to be left till the last minute, when there will not be time.

W. O. Smith's constitutional cry is "Don't say anything, because it might have a bad effect in Washington." He hasn't said it aloud in connection with this delegation, and it is difficult to imagine the possibility of his springing anything like it in this situation unless it be through reflex action and habit.

The outside crowd may be entirely wrong, but the supposition has been that the delegation would equip themselves with a little more material than is found in Thurman's Annual and the latest circular issued by the Promotion Committee. They need these and their tickets; but if the enthusiasm of the delegation since it was named is a sample of what is to be done after they strike Washington, Hawaii will have a most dignified and unobtrusive delegation that could not possibly hurt the feelings of an opponent by taking a trick in the game of results.

The delegation has not yet held a conference to discuss what to do and how to do it. The project has not lost any of its importance by reason of a week or two having passed since the town was in a ferment over it. What's wanted, is a definite quantity. How to get it impresses the people interested as being a topic worthy of at least an outline before getting on board the steamer.

"When other places do these things" they keep things moving from the "drop of the hat". It is assumed that the hat dropped when the united business bodies endorsed the delegation.

HAWAIIAN CHARGED WITH REGISTRATION FRAUD

A few arraignments and some pleas on the indictments recently returned by the Grand Jury were this morning before Judge Lindsay. J. W. Cathcart filed demurrers to the indictments in the cases of Sugihara, charged with assault with a weapon; and of Nozawa Yochi, charged with libel, on the grounds that they were indefinite, ambiguous and vague, and did not set forth sufficient facts. Both demurrers were overruled and exceptions noted. The defendants then both entered pleas of not guilty.

Hau, a Hawaiian, was arraigned on a charge of perjury. The indictment against him shows that in 1895 he was convicted of manslaughter in the third degree. Nevertheless, on Sept. 14, 1904, Hau, who at the time had not had his civil rights restored to him, registered as a voter, and thereby committed perjury. S. E. Chillingworth appeared for the defendant and had the taking of his plea continued until Wednesday. Bail was fixed in the sum of $1,000.

Hiyata, a Japanese, was arraigned on a charge of perjury. The indictment shows that he, while testifying as a witness in the District Court in a replevin case for the recovery of a certain buckskin horse, swore falsely to a material fact. As the defendant was not in court the arraignment was continued until tomorrow. He was arrested yesterday and placed under a $1,000 bond.

Kaliko Kaawaloa, the Hawaiian who is charged with having killed his sweetheart, Virginia, at Kakaako a few weeks ago, had his plea continued for a week at the request of Attorney Crook, who had been assigned to defend him.

DESIGNS HERE FOR YACHT RACE PRIZE

Two designs of the silver trophy to be awarded the winner of the Honolulu-San Francisco yacht race next spring have been received by the Hawaiian Yacht Club. Shreve & Co., San Francisco, are the designers. On one side of the bowl of the cup is a scene at Waikiki beach with Diamond Head in the background. On the other side the likeness of the successful yacht together with the owner's name and date of the race, etc., is to be engraved. The design that will be ordered has not as yet been decided upon although one of the two will no doubt be accepted.

"I'm glad to find you as you are," said the old friend. "Your great wealth hasn't changed you." "Well," responded Mr. Packer, "it has changed me a trifle. I'm eccentric where I used to be impolite and delightfully sarcastic where I used to be rude."

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH.

Since he ascended the throne in 1848 Francis Joseph has had many misfortunes. His brother, Maximilian, was executed in Mexico; his son, Rudolph, committed suicide, and his wife, Queen Elizabeth, was murdered by an anarchist. Now the aged emperor is battling with political troubles that threaten to cause a dissolution of the union between Austria and Hungary.

ed that I take the work up as a committee of one. This I have done to the extent of talking the plan over with Governor Carter and Secretary Atkinson, who have promised to do all in their power to advance it. Also I have written President Wheeler and secured favorable promises from various representatives at Washington.

I believe the plan can be carried through to success, and while I am perfectly willing to take my time writing letters and enlisting support, I think it highly proper that the work should go on under the direction of the Superintendent.

I submit my report to date with the accompanying letters and urge continued action.

WALLACE R. FARRINGTON,
Commissioner.
Dec. 11, '05.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.
Office of the President,
Berkeley, November 13, 1905.

My Dear Sir:—President Wheeler has handed me your letter of October 10th with the request that I should correspond with you concerning your plan to have the teachers of Hawaii come to the University of California for work in the Summer School next year. The plan is so promising that nothing should prevent its being carried out. A trip to California will not only be of great value to other teachers, their coming will stir ours up in a very wholesome fashion, too. We are hoping that the Summer Session will prove so attractive to them that they will conclude to stay in Berkeley rather than go elsewhere, in case they come to the Coast. It is a part of our plan to give instruction in practically all the branches taught in elementary and secondary schools. In addition, we have a very successful observation school where our students may see the best methods of school work in use. In case special classes are needed by our teachers, we will organize them, and we will also arrange excursions, field work, visits of inspection, etc., to the many interesting spots in the vicinity of San Francisco. In short, we will do all in our power to make their stay both profitable and pleasant. The Summer Session of the University together with the meeting of the National

Secretary of Hawaii,
Honolulu, T. H., Oct. 27, 1905.
Mr. W. R. Farrington, Commissioner,
Board of Public Instruction, Honolulu.

Sir:—Your letter concerning transportation of teachers received. I will surely take it up in Washington. I can possibly get the time.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
A. L. C. ATKINSON,
Secretary of Hawaii.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.
Office of the President,
Berkeley, December 6, 1905.

My Dear Sir:—Secretary Tait writes me that he finds that it is not possible to grant the request for the transportation of teachers next summer. He says, "We are so crowded on the transports that many of our own officials have to go by the liners. I am very sorry, for I should like to assist the teachers if it were possible."

What shall we do next? It certainly ought to be made possible for the teachers to come. An added reason next summer is the session of the National Educational Association in San Francisco.

Very truly yours,
BENJ. I. WHEELER.

WAGON USED TO STEAL
A LOAD OF LUMBER

S. E. Lucas, the interpreter, purchased some lumber the other day and had it delivered near the corner of Alakea and Merchant streets, where he contemplated a number of improvements. In addition to being finished the lumber was painted. But some one else wanted the lumber worse than Mr. Lucas did, and last night, or rather during the wee hours of this morning, lacked a wagon up against the pile and loaded the material and drove away, but where, is the question. The police have been notified of the theft but have no clue to the man or wagon who hauled the lumber away. No one saw the man, or whoever took the lumber, or heard him, but the first thing this morning Mr. Lucas missed the wood. Then he discovered the wagon tracks. The lumber was valued at about $10.

NOT A CRAFT SIGHTED
FOR THREE MONTHS
BY BARK ENGELHORN

Traveling thousands of miles and after a voyage of 78 days from Newcastle without sighting land or an other vessel of any kind during all that time, the four-masted English bark Engelhorn, Captain Lovitt, arrived off port last evening and was towed in the harbor this morning. She tied up at Sorenson's wharf. She brought 5726 tons of coal for H. Hackfeld & Co. The cargo was originally for the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., but later purchased from them by the Hackfelds.

The Engelhorn encountered some rough weather during her long trip and many head winds. Several storms and much rainy weather was experienced. On one occasion several sails were lost being blown away by the high winds, but otherwise there was no damage to either vessel or its cargo. The bark has a crew of twenty-four men.

This is Captain Lovitt's first visit to Hawaii. He has been a sailor forty-nine years and been around the world many times. Captain Lovitt's home is aboard the Engelhorn. His wife accompanies him on all trips. They have very comfortable quarters fixed up on the vessel. The Engelhorn will probably go from here to the Sound.

INSURANCE MERGER

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Insurance circles were much interested yesterday in a report that the Conservative Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles had acquired control of a majority of the stock of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of San Francisco, and that the two were to be merged into one company. These life companies are the only ones in California operating under a State license. The reasons for the consolidation are said to be purely practical and based on the fact that the two corporations merged into one and acting on an individual basis can do a better and more profitable business than by continuing to compete.

The Conservative was organized about five years ago, and had for its leading spirit Alfred H. Rindge, the Boston millionaire, reputed to have made upward of $20,000,000 in Texas oil. Rindge had for associates G. I. Cochrane of Los Angeles, Wallace Brothers of Santa Monica, Lee A. Phillips of Los Angeles, and other capitalists interested in promoting Southern California. Rindge has since died and his interests are now conserved in his estate.

The Pacific Mutual was organized in 1868, and in its last annual report its assets were given at $7,413,538. By securing the control of the Pacific's stock, the Conservative will also control its assets. While the Conservative is the younger company, the fact that it is about to merge with its competitor excites no surprise in insurance circles, where it is stated that the business of the Los Angeles company last year exceeded that of its rivals, both local and foreign.

The Pacific Mutual was recently reorganized with the following officers: Henry T. Scott, president; George W. Scott, vice president; S. M. Marks, second vice president; directors: Wakefield Baker, James Carolan, W. R. Clunness, W. H. Crocker, Henry J. Crocker, D. W. Earl, S. M. Marks, Jas. Irvine, M. B. Kellogg, Hugh M. La Rue, P. N. Lillenthal, George W. Scott, Henry T. Scott, William H. Sherwood, G. H. Umbson, F. C. Duggan.

Vice President Marks, when seen at the offices of the Pacific Mutual yesterday, said that while he had not heard of the merger and had no knowledge of it, he frequently received information from rumor and other outside sources. The report might be perfectly true, for all he knew, and he was not prepared to say whether it was or not.
